The Civil Engineer's Mega Bookmark

TenLinks.com Acquires Civil Engineering Directory

Internationally Acclaimed Web Site Will Form the Basis for an Ultimate Civil Engineering Directory

NOVATO, Calif., June 15, 2000 –TenLinks.com, the largest independent online directory for technology professionals, has acquired Civil Engineer's Mega Bookmark (<http://www.tenlinks.com/civil/>), an internationally acclaimed directory with over 1,000 web resources including subjects such as building codes/standards, education, tips, tools, journals, biographies, organizations and much more.

"The Civil Engineer's Mega Bookmark Site is an extremely valuable guide to information for civil engineers," said Roopinder Tara, president and CEO of TenLinks, Inc. "We will be making it even more useful by expanding it, updating it and using it as a basis for our upcoming Ultimate Civil Engineering Directory."

The Civil Engineer's Mega Bookmark represents the heroic efforts of Helena Klein, founder of the site. Klein started the project 1995 while working as a librarian for Lund University in Sweden. Klein's research led to the organization of the most useful civil engineering sites and resulted in numerous awards, including ANBAR's Cool Site, Argus Clearinghouse Seal of Approval and CEC's Golden Hardhat. It has also earned a Scout Report Selection, given to the best engineering sites. The quality of the site had not escaped the attention of TenLinks.com advisors either, having been selected as a TopTen Civil engineering site in 1999 as well as a TenLinks.com Tech Site of the Week in May 2000.

About Tenlinks.com

Founded in February of 1999, TenLinks.com is based upon the simple principle that ten links selected by an expert are infinitely more valuable than ten thousand picked by a computer. Today's busy professionals do not have time to sort out the vast amount of information available on the Internet. Tenlinks.com experts find, organize and rank web sites, providing extreme depth in numerous subjects. Its Ultimate Directories contain hundreds of TopTen lists and thousands of links, easily navigated by subject matter. In addition, TenLinks.com supplies daily news headlines, a daily email newsletter and much more. TenLinks.com's Ultimate CAD Directory has already earned several awards including the Top1% Website and Netscape Editor's Choice on the basis of content and design.
